

Australia's original festival hub raring to go

Mon 12 Feb, for immediate release

The Garden of Unearthly Delights opening night will feature FREE massive headline performances and a spectacular fireworks display

Australia's biggest culture playground - The Garden of Unearthly Delights - will officially open to the public on Thursday, February 15 with a huge line-up of free performances from 7:00 pm, and a stunning display of fireworks.

Headline acts on the night include the seriously hysterical Fringe Wives Club performing their new show Glittery Clittery a conSENSUAL party; mind baffling magician Kevin Quantum; the deliciously camp YUMMY!; the wonderful, weird and funny Tom Walker; Michelle Brasier and Laura Frew performing their show Double Denim, Greg Burns and Abigoliah Shaumann from the Best of Edinburgh Fest; and the comically political spectacular Trumpageddon.

The evening's free entertainment will be emceed by Nath Valvo who is excited to be performing in the Garden this year with his show Show Pony. Enjoy free music across multiple venues and be on the lookout for all of the hidden secrets The Garden has to offer.

Michelle Buxton, Co-Director of The Garden of Unearthly Delights said:

"I am totally excited about the opening night party this year. We have brought some of the most brilliant acts from around the world to Adelaide and I know everyone is going to love them.

"We have also put our hearts and souls into designing the site because everyone knows that the magic of The Garden starts at the front gate.

"It is always fun to discover what this year's Garden holds on opening night plus of course, there will be amazing food, fireworks and awesome free shows. Come and help us celebrate another year in The Garden of Unearthly Delights."
